In today's fast-paced business environment, change is constant as customers and business demands are evolving with the change in environment and technologies. Keeping track of all the moving parts and ensuring they align with the overall strategy can be a real challenge. Many organisations struggle with managing their change portfolio effectively and fail to achieve their intended business benefits and outcomes, leaving executives, leaders and employees frustrated and overwhelmed.

As a change practitioner or head of strategy and transformation, you know that change can be complex and multifaceted. Successful change management requires a holistic approach.

Whether you are supporting a single initiative, a program of work, a portfolio, or provide advice on the organisational-wide change agenda, it's crucial to understand organisational change from a portfolio perspective.

If you're struggling to keep up with the volume of change in your organisation, it's time to take a step back and re-evaluate your approach. With the right tools and techniques, you can gain a better understanding of the change landscape and maximise your impact.

If the employees you support feel overwhelmed by the volume of initiatives or struggle to align the organisation's transformation agenda with its strategic goals, our online foundation course on Change Portfolio Management can help you gain the essential skills and insights you need to drive results and improve change fitness of the business you support.
